Cybercom receives major order from global mobile communications company

Cybercom has received an order worth around SEK 20 million from a global mobile communications company. The order extends for one year and is for verification of mobile services hardware.

“This is an important contract for Cybercom, where we will be helping our customer to accelerate their development lead times. This will significantly reduce time to market for the customer’s products,” says Henrik Benckert, business area director test and verification services at Cybercom.

Cybercom will quality assure and verify wireless communications hardware on behalf of the customer. The order value is approximately SEK 20 million. The contract runs for a period of one year with a possibility of extension.

Cybercom was chosen because of the company’s substantial experience in testing of wireless communications, and because of Cybercom’s long-standing collaboration with the customer in this field.
